

LITERACY AWARDS

LIBRARY
OF CONGRESS

2020 LIBRARY OF CONGRESS LITERACY AWARDS CALL FOR APPLICATIONS

Are you a nonprofit organization (large or small) having an impact on literacy?
If so, then we want your application!

Why Apply?

- Receive cash awards and public recognition for your work
- Network with other award recipients

What are the awards?

Applications in all categories will also be considered for Best Practice awards of $5,000 each.

How do I apply?

Visit www.read.gov/literacyawards/ for application, rules and other information

When is the deadline?

Applications will be accepted from January 13 to March 6, 2020

Impact on 2019 Winners

"Receiving the 2019 David M. Rubenstein Prize provides ProLiteracy with an amazing and unique opportunity to garner more support, raise awareness about adult literacy, and scale our impact to reach more learners."
ProLiteracy Worldwide, 2019 David M. Rubenstein Prize winner

"This award puts a powerful spotlight on the quiet yet critical leadership we have provided since 1919 as we continue to share the joy of reading... and other critical tools and services to blind children and adults across the United States."
American Action Fund for Blind Children and Adults, 2019 American Prize winner

"The value of this award is so much more than the incredible $50,000, as it will enable us to raise more funds, maintain our commitment to high quality, and expand our impact."
ConTextos, 2019 International Prize winner

ProLiteracy Worldwide
2019 David M. Rubenstein
Prize Winner

American Action
Fund for Blind
Children and Adults
2019 American
Prize Winner

ConTextos
2019 International
Prize Winner

Created and supported by philanthropist David M. Rubenstein, the Literacy Awards Program is designed to broaden and stimulate public understanding of the essential role of literacy in all aspects of society.